Annapolis Friends Now Say Girl Carried Some Money at Time of Murder.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., January 17 .-The remains of Miss Harriet M. Kavanaugh, the nurse attached to the Naval Hospital here, who met her death Friday night at the hands of an unapprehended assallant, were inan unapprehended assailant, were interred this morning in the Naval cemetery, within a hundred yards from the point where she was attacked and even less distance from the hospital in which she had performed her duty faithfully.

The grave is on the most prominent mound of the cemetery, and near her body rest the remains of many men of eminent services in the Navy.

The funeral was from St. Mary's Catholic Church, which Miss Kavanaugh attended regularly, the officiating minister being the rector. Father Tuohy. The escort consisted of a company of United States Marines of a company of United States Marines and the Naval Academy Band. funeral was attended by all the physicians and other members of the hos-pital personnel who could be spared their work, as well as by many naval people and civilians. The services were simple and impressive. Dr. E. M. Dooley and wife of Buffalo, N cousins of Miss Kavanaugh, were the only relatives present, the deceased nurse's closest relatives living in Ireland, where she was born.

Enlisted Men Are Bearers. The pallbearers, enlisted men, at tached to the Naval Hospital, who had been associates of Miss Kavanaugh, were M. S. Wiggins, H. L. Hess, J. M. Stanguitis, A. Gregory and L. A. Wagner, pharmacists mates, and R. J. Lockwood, A. L. Ashman and L. L. Szymanski, hospital apprentices of the first class. It was stated officially at the Naval Academy today that there are no fur-ther clues in the case except that inther clues in the case except that involved in the arrest, in Baltimore, Sunday, of the colored Navy deserter. Henry A. Brown. It is understood that there is nothing more against Brown at this time than the fact that he is a deserter and that he had been a patient at the hospital at one time. He denies that he had been in Annapolis since he left here, about a month ago.

Possible Motive for Crime. bbery as a possible motive of the murder was suggested in a statement by H. Corosh, a local jeweler, Miss Kavanaugh was well acquainted with Mr. Corosh and his wife, had visited the store the night of the murder, paying a small sum for engraving on a silver pencil. Miss Kavanaugh took the pencil with her. Miss Kavanaugh also wore a diamond ring, the value of which was about $40, which she had purchased from Mr. Corosh. Mr. Corosh stated that she had several bills in her handbag. He saw these when she handbag. He saw these when she took out the change to pay him, but he does not know their denomination.
It was learned today that neither the handbag nor the pencil was found on Miss Kavanaugh. She still wore the ring when carried to the hospital. It was also developed that two employes of state offices here. Charles Spicher and Burton Woolley of the executive office, who were taking a walk in the vicinity of the crime Friday night; saw a sespicious-looking man on the county bridge, which is up College creek from the academy bridge. His actions attracted the attention of the men, who now believe he may have been the murderer.

I make this statement advisedly, because, when the International Congress of Corrections and Charities met in America, in 1910, the delegates from Europe returned home and advised the adoption largely of the laws of Indiana as administrative features of their own countries. To do this work meant either an appropriation at the hands of Congress, for which I never could see my way clear to ask, or the employment of some ex-

Representative Blanton of Texas, whose point of order knocked the $240 bonus for all government employes from the legislative appropriation bill, gave renewed assurance today that his fight was not to cut out the bonus, but to include the policemen and firemen of the District among those who are to receive it.

Agreement in Conference Expected. Representative Crampton of Michigan, who will be one of the House conferees, said that there is no doubt that the general $240 bonus will be The process of deflation has followed normal lines. Nature has taken its course. Liquidation has been extensive. And the entire financial situation is healthier than it has been in some time.

Various statements issued by the Federal Reserve Board indicate, when analyzed, that about $245,000,000 federal reserve notes have been retired in the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, which is about $50,000,000 more than was the last three weeks, when an all the weeks when the last three weeks, when an all the last three weeks, when all the last three covers the policemen and firemen un-der the $240 bonus, as is expected, the matter must go back to the House and the conferees be specifically in-structed upon this point before it can be agreed to in conference.

Efforts for Police and Firemen. When and if the bonus for policemen and firemen comes before the House an organized effort to have it approved will be made. Prominent members of both parties and from mands of spring business will many states are now trying to per-obe financed. Chairman Mapes House District committee and Representative Norman J. Gould of New York, who framed the special pay bill which increased the salaries of the policemen and firemen, are assuring their colleagues that the police and their colleagues that the police and fireman pay schedules were based on the expectation that they would be included in the bonus. They are also emphasizing that the police and firefighting force of the District will be demoralized unless such action is taken promptly. taken promptly.

Would Redeem Promise.

Chairman Davis of the subcommit-ee which handled the District approtee which handled the District appropriation bill, and who ranks next to Chairman Good of the appropriations committee, made the promise on the floor of the House that the policemen floor of the House that the policemen and firemen weer to receive the bonus, and he is eager to make good his promise. Chairman Good of the ap-propriations committee believes that propriations committee believes that if the police and firemen's pay were based on the understanding that they were to receive the bonus they should not now be excluded.

Chairman Wood of the subcommittee in charge of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill realizes the necessity of granting the general $240 bonus and is not expected to sacrifice the bonus for all government employes if an issue is made on the police and firemen, and made on the police and firemen, and Representative Blanton says he is de-termined to make that issue.

MEXICO CITY, January 17 .- Oposition to Samuel Gompers' election as president of the Pan-American Federation of Labor developed here today at the annual congress of the organization when preparations were made to elect officers. There were rumors that Spanish speaking delegates, encouraged by their victory over the United States delegation in the contest over immigration on Saturday, might attempt gration on Saturday, might attempt to wrest the presidency from Mr. Gompers, Canvass of several delegations showed, however, that the fight against Mr. Gompers, while contemplated, would not be successful, and it is indicated he would be returned to office.

Final Session Delayed.

It was expected when the congress adjourned Saturday evening that the final session would be held today. but many delegates expressed will-ingness to continue the deliberations of the meeting until late this week. if necessary, so that each constituent member of the congress might discuss fully all questions submitted. The American delegation apparently was the only one wishing to return home immediately, and as the Spanish under the control of the control Police and Firemen.
